

Your Support Helps Advancing Knowledge

Dear Friends,

Best of luck to all the teachers who are the ROCK STARS as essential workers. They work extremely hard to teach our students. In these challenging times, their work is more important than ever.

We are bringing new online content your way! This unprecedented time has inspired us all to look for new ways to gather information and learn. Because we are still “social distancing”, we unfortunately have not been able to resume HERC in-person events. It will be easy for you to participate in our workshop on October 5th and Holocaust Education Week events on November 9-12th. We are especially excited to encourage you to join us for this year’s first virtual state-wide Holocaust Education Week commemoration.

Preserving memory to never forget the Holocaust is a priority. One way HERC strives to fulfill this pledge is by sharing recorded testimonies of survivors and other teachers will be part of collaborative programs to make certain Holocaust history is taught at the highest level.

As the Holocaust becomes more distant in time, this network of teachers will inspire others to act in the face of hatred and antisemitism.

What you can do is important to support our efforts.

Salvaged Pages by Alexandra Zapruder

This stirring collection of diaries written by young people during the Holocaust reflects a vast and diverse range of experiences—some of the writers were refugees, others were hiding or passing as non-Jews, some were imprisoned in ghettos. This seminal National Jewish Book Award winner was the first comprehensive collection of such writings, with extensive excerpts from fifteen diaries, ten of which had never before been translated and published in English. The diarists ranged in age from twelve to twenty-two; some survived the Holocaust, but most perished. Taken together, their accounts of daily events and their often unexpected thoughts, ideas, and feelings serve to deepen and complicate our understanding of life during the Holocaust.

Salvaged Pages has now been fully revised and updated in a second edition. It begins with a new preface by Alexandra Zapruder examining the book's history and impact and includes her introduction from the original edition in which she examines Anne Frank's diary and offers a new framework for thinking about the diaries young people produced in this time of extreme crisis. In introductions to each chapter, she assesses the value of these literary fragments as part of the historical record of the Holocaust and provides informative introductions to each diary about when and where each diary was written; the diarist's biographical, religious, cultural, and economic circumstances; the fate of the diarist; the circumstances of the diary's discovery. A revised appendix gives details about the known diaries written by young people during this period and a second appendix provides a study of related materials, such as rewritten and reconstructed diaries, letters, diary-memoirs, and texts by non-Jewish young victims of the war and Nazism.

HERC Invites You to Our Virtual Events for Statewide Recognition of Holocaust Education Week November 9th-12th

Monday, November 9 – Dr. Mark Wygoda, speaks about “In the Shadow of the Swastika”, a book based upon his father’s memoirs of WWII. He was known first as a Warsaw ghetto smuggler, then as Comandante Enrico. He traveled under false identity papers and worked at a German border patrol station. Throughout the years of the Holocaust, Hermann Wygoda lived a life of narrow escapes, daring masquerades, and battles that almost defy reason.

Tuesday, November 10 – Dr. Oren Baruch Stier – Professor of Religious Studies and Director, FIU Holocaust and Genocide Studies Program
Kristallnacht: The End of the Beginning and the Beginning of the End

The state-sponsored, “spontaneous,” premeditated pogrom on November 9-10, 1938 – known widely as Kristallnacht, or the Night of Broken Glass – represents both a historic and symbolic turning point in the Nazi assault against European Jewry. Commemorated widely, it remains relevant to anyone interested in understanding the evolution of hate. Join FIU’s Oren Stier and HERC as we explore the significance of this date and reflect on why it continues to matter.

Thursday, November 12 – Dr. Robert Watson author
The Nazi Titanic: The Incredible Untold Story of a Doomed Ship in World War II.

Built in 1927, the German ocean liner SS Cap Arcona was the greatest ship since the RMS Titanic and one of the most celebrated luxury liners in the world. When the Nazis seized control in Germany, she was stripped down for use as a floating barracks and troop transport. In the Third Reich’s final days, the ill-fated ship was packed with thousands of concentration camp prisoners. Just days before Germany surrendered, the Cap Arcona was mistakenly bombed by the British Royal Air Force and nearly all of the concentration camp prisoners were killed in the last major tragedy of the Holocaust.
