

HERC 2026

15th Annual Remembrance Dinner

Because the stories of survivors must never be silenced

HERC provides Holocaust education, teacher training, and community programming across the Florida Panhandle, ensuring history's most documented atrocity is never reduced to a footnote. Your presence at this dinner and your generosity keeps that work alive.

About HERC's Special Guests

David Goldman - Guest Speaker

Chair of the Fellowship at Auschwitz for the study of Professional Ethics.

David Goldman is the founder and Chairman of the Fellowships at Auschwitz for the Study of Professional Ethics (FASPE), a nonprofit whose mission is to promote ethical leadership and responsibility among professionals—those with the authority to impact all segments of society. David, now retired, was a partner in the law firm of McDermott Will & Emery LLP. He served as the head of the firm's International Corporate Practice and as head of the firm's New York office. David's practice focused on corporate counseling in a variety of settings and industries. David has served on the board of a number of for-profit and non-profit organizations and was formerly on the Board of Directors of the Yale Law School Fund. David is a graduate of Washington University (BA, 1973) and Yale Law School (JD, 1976).

Tom Flanigan - Community Leadership Award Recipient

Program Director for News
WFSU Public Media

Tom Flanigan has been reporting for WFSU Public Media since 2006. Most of his stories have focused on the people and events that make the Capital City region so unique. That often includes happenings and personalities that otherwise might not be heard in the present avalanche of content that too often mistakes sensationalism for significance. Flanigan began his media career at a small radio station near his Western Maryland hometown. After that, he worked at progressively larger stations in Florida and Texas before settling down permanently in Tallahassee. He did make a brief career detour into corporate communications between 1987 and 2004, a move he says was most valuable in broadening his perception of the world. In addition to his journalistic duties, Flanigan also spends a great deal of time nowadays caring for his wife, Betty.

Allan Hanstein - Steve Uhlfelder Humanitarian Award Recipient

Executive Director
The Challenger Learning Center of Tallahassee

Allan Hanstein is the Executive Director for the Challenger Learning Center of Tallahassee, the K-12 STEM Outreach Center for the FAMU-FSU College of Engineering. He is responsible for all aspects of Center operation, including the IMAX Theatre, Planetarium, Education Programs, and Community Outreach. Growing up in a suburb of New York City, his love of science, discovery, and exploration was cultivated at a young age by visiting the Museum of Natural History and the Hayden Planetarium. Also, his love of ice cream was cultivated at a young age by visiting Carvel. His goal is to make science and the exploration of the universe open and available to everyone. After a successful 30 year career in technology and event logistics, Hanstein joined the Challenger Center as Director in 2022. He is a proud alumnus and Dean's Laureate of the FSU College of Communication and Information. He is also the creator and voice of public radio's STEM Minute and the host of the national monthly podcast Launching into History. A frequent speaker on topics ranging from space and leadership to horology in space exploration, Alan is committed to making science and the cosmos accessible to all. Alan has been active in Tallahassee across a wide range of community and philanthropic organizations for more than 30 years, and his passion and commitment for HERC stems from his belief that education is one of the most powerful tools we have to confront hatred, preserve historical truth, and inspire future generations to build a better world. He lives in Tallahassee, Florida with his wife, Amy and has two adult children and a beagle named Buddy!
